

USER CONFERENCE 2010

Please join us for the first VISCO User Conference!

You are personally invited to attend the first annual VISCO user conference on October 12th, 13th and 14th. This conference is an opportunity for you to harness the full power of the VISCO software that you already own. The odds are that your company is only taking advantage of a fraction of the total functions available in your system so why not use these days to focus streamlining the business by getting more from your software.

Please use this opportunity to help shape the future direction of the software by working directly with the developers, implementation and support representatives. The conference will include training on the latest functionality, training on creating your own reports, and scheduled one-on-one sessions to discuss issues and enhancements specific to your install, and of course a chance to enjoy beautiful Kingston, NY too. Please see the agenda below:
